German Catholics in Montreal

Even before the World War I there were numerous German Catholics in Montreal. Attempts were made to set up a Catholic parish, but because of the small number of Catholics, they did not succeed. After the war, more and more Germans had to leave their homeland, and many came to Canada. In Montreal a larger colony of German Catholics emerged, all of whom more or less also spoke Hungarian, as they had emigrated from Hungary and from the regions separated from Hungary: from Czechoslovakia, Romania and Yugoslavia. Our people felt very unhappy; they would have liked a Holy Mass with German church songs and with a sermon in German.

In 1928 Franciscan Father Jerome Hedly established the Hungarian parish, many of our fellow countrymen joined this community and were members of the same until the emergence of our German community in Saint Louis de France. On the 31st of January 1930 a small meeting was held. Present were: Anton Schlachter (Bácska, Yugoslavia), Ehrhard Weisenberger (Deutschland), Georg Marx (Schweiz), Matthias Vogel (Ungarn), Nikolaus Ginder (Bácska, Yugoslavia), Josef Beck (Bácska, Yugoslavia), Valentin Gilbertus (Bácska, Yugoslavia), Michael Schneider (Bácska, Yugoslavia). Alfred Schultes (Germany), Johann Monn (Switzerland) - The Lord Archbishop asked for a German priest from the General Abbot of the Cistercian Order in Rome, who then sent his secretary, Dr. P. Tiburtius Hümpfner to Montreal. He landed in Montreal on the 11th of May 1930 and was kindly received as a guest at the archbishop's palace.

Invitations were sent to all known German language families in Montreal:

Holy Mass and followed by a sermon in German, on Sunday 18 May 1930, at 9 o'clock in the morning in the lower church of St. Louis de France (at the Roy St. and City Hall, corner Laval Avenue). All German-speaking Catholics in the city are kindly invited to participate in the divine service.

Dr. P. Tiburtius Hümpfner, Priest of the Cistercian Order.

Approximately 300 people attended the first Holy Mass.

Vice Consul Henry Schafhausen from the Consulates-General of the German Reich played the organ.

German Lutherans in Montreal

St. John's is the oldest Lutheran church in Montreal, founded in 1853. Although begun by German businessmen, today the congregation is ethnically and racially diverse and includes neighbourhood residents, long-time immigrants, new immigrants, and a diversity of Canadians, Quebecers, and members from over a dozen countries. Welcome to all and inclusion is a hallmark; one that is not to be taken for granted in congregations with strong ethnic roots. Our pews gather-in professionals and street people, young and old, new comers and long-time members. On the occasion of its 150th Anniversary (2003) St. John's became the first Lutheran congregation in Canada to be granted a Coat-of-Arms by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, through the Governor General. These have become a symbol of integration and participation in the fabric of Canadian society which is significant for a parish originating with immigrants. Its German heritage has certainly influenced many things at St. John, but the focus is to build on our heritage and to walk forward while looking a bit back over our shoulder. Music is an important part of our tradition. The Helmuth Wolff organ at St. John's ranks as one of the significant pipe organs of downtown Montreal and the Reformation Repertoire of Bach, Schuetz, Buxtehude, et al is given priority. Music at the services uses hymns from the newest German Hymnal (Bavarian edition) at the German services and Evangelical Lutheran Worship for the English services. Music Director is Joel Peters and we work in conjunction with the organ department at McGill and its director Hans-Ola Ericsson. The Sunday afternoon Serenata chamber music concerts pack the church and are a much-loved community event from Oct.-April. These feature musicians from the Montreal Symphony Orchestra (MSO) and utilise the unique acoustic of the church and its setting for chamber music. Both classical and modern works are performed. Bach Cantatas are regularly scheduled in autumn and spring and contribute to the vibrant Montreal music scene. St. John's is both an urban, cosmopolitan, downtown congregation and at the same time the home of German immigrants who arrived after the second World War. The congregation's long history in Montreal allows for an integration in the city rare amongst Lutheran congregations. English has always been a part of the congregation's working languages and presently French is often used for larger celebrations, in Sunday School, and for pastoral acts (baptisms, marriages, funerals). A Newsletter is published four times a year in German, English, and with some articles in French. The historical architecture of the building has not allowed us to install chairlifts or elevators (local building regulations). However the Parish Hall can be accessed from the laneway at one level. A few stairs into the church are not steep and include a landing, with seating, half-way.

The German Society of Montreal

Société allemande de Montréal

Deutsche Gesellschaft zu Montreal

is a Montreal-based non-profit organization with the mission to promote the German language and culture in Montreal and to promote the health and welfare of Montrealers of all origins. The Society was founded as an association of German language business people and professionals in 1835 and was incorporated by the Act to incorporate the German Society of Montreal, a public act of the Province of Canada in 1865. Today, the Society is an important social and cultural institution in the German-speaking community of Montreal. The German Society's mission has evolved over the years. While the Society was originally founded to support German immigrants coming to Montreal and Canada, the Society today supports all Montrealers regardless of origin. Today, the Society also works to support the German culture, heritage and language in Montreal, by working to make connections between different groups in Montreal such as the: Alexander von Humboldt Schule Montréal & Montreal Goethe-Institut

1835-1850s: Early Years of the German Society of Montreal

After a private meeting in March 1835, initiated amongst others by the physician Dr. Daniel Arnoldi, the German Society of Montreal was formally founded on April 21, 1835 at the Hotel Nelson. The original purpose was to be the voice of the German-minority in Montreal and to the support of anyone of German-origin living and/or arriving in Montréal with "advice, information and assistance [to those] in need" (Gürttler, 1985). At the first general meeting, the 81 founding members appointed the Louis Gugy (at the time Sheriff of Montreal) as the first president of the Society. Over the course of its history, the leaders and members of the Society have ranged from tradespersons such as butchers to professionals such as lawyers, politicians, business people, doctors and diplomats.

1850s-1880s: Immigration Waves

Montreal was an important port for European immigrants coming to North America. Even though large numbers of Germans (and other Europeans) arrived in Montreal, not many remained in the city for long: most moved on to Canada's west or the United States. Nevertheless, the German Society played an important role in welcoming German-speaking immigrants and helping them get settled in the city. With its goal to support the welfare of the German community in Montreal, the Society also assisted the opening of a German-language church in the 1850s.

The Churches

1642 - Notre Dame Catholic Parish - Montréal - The first germanic immigrants in Nouvelle France arrived in 1621 in the Quebec City region. The regions of Baden-Württemberg, Rheinland-Pfalz, Hessen-Darmstadt, Hessen-Kassel, Hannover, Oldenbourg, Schleswig-Holstein, Mecklenbourg were faced with a deep famine in the 1620s and thus began the emigration period to Nouvelle France - In Montreal, it is unclear as to the first arrival of germanic families, but it does appear that the period of time from 1692 to 1705 is favoured by a number of historians - BAnQ films (1642-1942) - Quebec Records (1642-1942) - Ancestry.ca (1642-1942)

1760 - British Conquest of Montreal - The main British force under General Jeffery Amherst had disembarked on the Island of Montreal east of modern Lachine. This was September 6th. 1760. By September 8th., it occupied a line extending from the Saint Gabriel Farm House in Pointe-Saint-Charles to approximately the Charlevoix bridge on the Lachine Canal. It was in this position that Amherst received the capitulation late on the night of the eight of September.

1930 - Saint-Louis de France Catholic Parish - City Hall Street at the corner of Roy Street - Montreal
Even before the World War I there were numerous German Catholics in Montreal. Attempts were made to set up a Catholic parish, but because of the small number of Catholics, they did not succeed. After the war, more and more Germans had to leave their homeland, and many came to Canada. In Montreal soon a larger colony of German Catholics emerged, all of whom more or less also spoke Hungarian, as they had emigrated from Hungary and from the regions separated from Hungary: from Czechoslovakia, Romania and Yugoslavia. Our people felt very unhappy; they would have liked a Holy Mass with German church songs and with a sermon in German. In 1928 Franciscan Father Jerome Hedly established the Hungarian parish, many of our fellow countrymen joined this community and were members of the same until the emergence of our German community in Saint Louis de France. On the 31st of January 1930 a small meeting was held. Present were: Anton Schlachter (Bácska, Yugoslavia), Ehrhard Weisenberger (Deutschland), Georg Marx (Schweiz), Matthias Vogel (Ungarn), Nikolaus Ginder (Bácska, Yugoslavia), Josef Beck (Bácska, Yugoslavia), Valentin Gilbertus (Bácska, Yugoslavia), Michael Schneider (Bácska, Yugoslavia). Alfred Schultes (Germany), Johann Monn (Switzerland) - The Lord Archbishop asked for a German priest from the General Abbot of the Cistercian Order in Rome, who then sent his secretary, Dr. P. Tiburtius Hümpfner to Montreal. He landed in Montreal on the 11th of May 1930 and was kindly received as a guest at the archbishop's palace - Holy Mass and afterwards preach in German, on Sunday 18 May 1930, at 9 o'clock in the morning in the lower church of St. Louis de France (at the Roy St. and City Hall, corner Laval Avenue). All German-speaking Catholics in the city are kindly invited to participate in the divine service. -Dr. P. Tiburtius Hümpfner, Priest of the Cistercian Order - Approximately 300 people attended the first Holy Mass. Vice Consul Henry Schafhausen from the Consulates-General of the German Reich played the organ - BAnQ films (1888-1941) - Quebec Records (1888-1941) - Ancestry.ca (1888-1941)
